We reproduce this morning a very significant article on "Slavery and the Democratic Party" from the New York Leader, to which we would call the attention of our readers. The Leader is one of the ablest Democratic journals of New York, and during the lat Presidential contest displayed great vigor in support of Gen. McClellan. The article is reproduced to indipast, will be cons med by the lucreasing fiame. Missouri and Maryland have declared for emancination, and they look to Kettuky, confident that she, too, in the spirit of true progress, will inangurate the system. Two-thirds of the Democratic party in the loyal States, sustaining as they do the national cause, and at preciating the last Presidentlal vote, will respond to the main views expressed by the New York Leader. Sooner or later, and at no distant day, the Federal Constitution will be so amended as to prohibit slavery throughout the nation. Whatever our prejudices on the subject, such is clearly the destiny before us. Every cool and intelligent thinker perceives it.

The removal of General Batler from command is the subject of considerable remark by the Eastern press. The President acted, it is eaid, upon the urgent request of Lieutenant-General Grant, who, it would seem, attributes the recent failure before Wilmington to Butler's inefficiency. It is said that Grant has never felt confidence in Butler, and has had under consideration for some time a demand for his removal. Failure has seemed to attend all the movements of Butler, and the repulse at Wilnington, in Grant's estimation, capped the climax of his profitless career. Ben. Butler has some sagacity, but, we apprehend, his talents are not adapted to a successful military career.

Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees, in the course of his speech in Congress, several days ago, on the anti-slavery amendment to the constitution, said that "the question of slavery is rapidly diminishing in importance, whether for good or evil; slavery is passing away."

The New York Commercial Advertiser urges the claims of General Rosecrans as the successor of General Butler. The splendid sermeral Rosecrans certainly entitle him to the consideration of the President in filling

We notleed yesterday when passing Tripp Gragg's music-store that there was something new going to take place there. On inquirling we learned that the agent of the New York Jewallery Manufacturing Association had come to onr city, and intended to give two of their presentation concerts at the Masonle Temple on the 19th and 21st of this month. Their manuer of doing business is different from any other concern that has ever visited our city. They have on exhibition at Tripp & Gragg's a large stock of watches, jewellery, silver-ware, sewing machines, pianos, and many other valuables. It seems that they sell a ticket to a concert, and give a present with each ticket ranging in value from one to five hundred dollars. We cannot understand how they afford it, but suppose they understand their business. Two deserters arrived here yesterday from Cincinnati.

AXXVIIITH CONGRESS-SECOND SESSION.

Wasmingron, Jan. 16. SENATE. Mr. Lane, of Indiana, present of the petition of the citizens of Fort Wayne. Ind., asking that the record priseners now in Northern priseus he placed under the central of discharged Union prisoners, and clothes furnished the Union prisoners in the South. Mr. Lane addressed the Scales on the subject of the above petition, a traction and control of the above petition, a traction action, a constraint of the south. cating action in accordance with the sugges-

Mr. Wade interrupted Mr. Lone to offer joint resolution that all prisoners and officers and soldiers of the so-called Confederacy who are now or shall be hereafter in the control and keeping of the Federal Government shall receive the same rations and the same clothing, and be subject to the same treatment in every respect, as the Federal prisoners, officers and soldiers, who are now or have been in the keeping and power of the so-called Confederate Sovernment, and that this treatment shall be changed for better or worse whenever the l'reddent of the United States shall have reliable nformation that the treatment of our soldier in Southern prisons is changed for better or for worse. Any officers in charge of rebel prisoners who shall fail to carry out this policy shall ers who shall fail to carry out this policy shall be dismissed the service.

Mr. Lane, of Indiana, said this resolution did not go far enough. It didn't provide that rebels should be kept nuder the care of released prisoners of the Federal army. This was a very important part of the matter. It had been said that retaliation would make war more bloody. He didn't care. He hoped it would make every Southern river run with the blood of traitors. There were 44,000 Union prisoners in the South, and double that many rebels in the North. We owe it to our brave men who had gone to fight n the good cause to luangurate this system of mre good cause to mangurate this system of retaliation.

Mr. Wade said some time ago the Committee on the Conduct of the War took more than two hundred depositions concerning the barbaritles practised upon our soldiers in the South. Many were dying when their testimony was taken. It was the general impression then that if the rebel barbarities were substantiated by this investigation, the executive authorities would inaugurate a system of retaliation. The report was printed, and left no doubt that all the stories of rebel cruelty were true, but yet no action had been taken by the Government authorities. He was sorry to see so much symptosis. oathy extended by the people of the North to opie who inaugurated the rebellion while they tranquilly tolerated these cruelties to our addiers in the South. He was sorry in his heart to see people sending provisious to the rebels at Savannah while our soldiers were starving In Southern prisons. He had heard that a distinguished rebel was recently arrested while coming North, and that the President had threatened to retaliste if a hair of his head was hurt. If retaliation was justified in the case of nrt. If retaliation was justified in the case of relel, how much more so was it in the case of r brave soldiers? It might be right enough
